School: College Liberal Arts&Sciences

Instructor: Bryant-Richards, Elizabeth A (0125352)

Term: 2009-2010 Spring, Class: Liberal Studies Program 112, Section: 603, Course Title: FOCAL POINT SEMINAR

Question: Were the books, chapters, and articles you read for this class different from traditional textbooks? How did that affect the class?

Student	Detail
149088	Yes but it didn't affect the class.
151148	Yes, they were about people's lives instead of just information. They lended themselves to a great discussion topic.
151861	Yes, the books used for the class were helpful in analyzing the overall goal of this focal point class.
154230	yes, it was good because we read viewpoints from many different authors rather than just one from a textbook
154745	yes they were very different than textbooks. They were more closely associated with the class and were much more interesting.
155143	yes, it was about friendship and it allowed for the class to evaluate their ow friendships
155364	The readings were great, both books and studies were very interesting and connected great with the topic
160831	Yes, the books enhanced class discussion and were completely related to the Focal Point topic. The books were also not that very challenging to read, so I found that a plus and was able to stimulate interest in the topic even more. Everyone engaged in class discussion at least once.
162150	The books were definitely different from traditional textbooks, since they were novels. Although, I'm not sure how a textbook would present information about the truth and beauty of friendship. The novels aided the class in getting two friends' lives and their perspective of their friendship with the other person. The articles were somewhat similar to textbooks. They provided information and facts about friendships. It gave us another perspective of friendships.
166261	Yes, we read more first-hand experiences and that was so much more interesting than just learning from a textbook. Also, the guest speaker was a great way to learn about the topic.
167565	Yes, the books we read related specifically to the topic and allowed for interesting discussion.
170427	Yes, very different. I read a lot of content that sparked interest in the class and its related topics. Readings in this class was easy as the content was not boring and actually something that I have referred to friends of mine.
170817	Yes.

Question: What aspects of the course do you think worked particularly well?

Student	Detail
149088	The class discussion
151148	Discussing the books we read because we could compare our own relationship to those in the books.
151861	Class discussions rather than pure lecture.
154230	our methods of class discussion
154745	class discussion was always very interesting
155143	discussion
155364	The small room setting the students and the teacher connected great together
160831	The class discussions worked particularly well because I was able to hear new ideas that my classmates offered. We also were able to agree and disagree with each other; I found the disagreeing to be what boosted the quality of the discussion.
162150	The class discussions
166261	The class was mainly based on discussions which was the best part because it made it very intersting.
167565	The discussion was great.

Question: What aspects of the course do you think worked particularly well?
Student	Detail
170427	Group discussions were probably the most effective. Sitting in a rounded circle where we could see each other, I was able to learn everyone's name and discussions felt like REAL discussions.
170817	Class discussions

Question: What suggestions to you have for specific improvements or changes?
Student	Detail
149088	none it was an awesome class
151861	N/A
154230	not really, this class was amazing
154745	none. This class is awesome!
155364	I liked everything about this course.
160831	I would have liked more feedback on my papers. Some of my papers had hardly any feedback on them at all. I prefer someone who grades strictly because that will encourage me to try harder and become a better writer.
162150	No improvements or changes needed
167565	I think that this class has too much reading and writing. When students signed up for it, they were not aware that it was basically another English class and that put a lot of people off. We already have English requirements, can't our focal point be a little different than WRD?
170427	I have no suggestions unfortunately. This class was awesome. :)

Student	Detail
112662	Superb class
112842	This class wouldn't be out of place in high school. Extremely poor.
113849	Prof. Bryant-Richards was a good teacher to have. I tried to get another class next quarter just because she was the teacher.
115736	Awesome
128839	This course was for the most part helpful. The formal writing assignments greatly improved my knowledge and writing skills. The instructor encouraged the use of the Writing Center, and I strongly believe that using it helps a lot. Plus, I was able to choose the topic I wanted to write about, and I found that to be extremely helpful. Having said that, there were some problems. I felt the reading assignments were completely useless and did not improve my writing. Yes, logos, ethos and pathos techniques were emphasized, and I now have a greater understanding on them, but I easily utilized those techniques in my formal papers as well. What made the reading assignments difficult was that most of the readings weren't very interesting. The problem is that none of us could relate to any of the characters in the stories. Add that with the complex language and detail, and it's difficult sometimes to understand what the author is talking about. "Confessions of a Left-Handed Man" was a great story to read. I prefer reading stuff like that. Overall, I felt the instructor was very energetic and helpful. The instructor is really the one that can make a class exciting or boring, and for most of the time I enjoyed coming to this class.
130035	None
131411	I don't enjoy writing much so I did not really enjoy this class
131790	I had a great teacher.
131846	I thought that the writing assignments in the class were very relevant to the course and allowed me the leeway to use my creative skills and not always follow a strict rubric.
134004	This course was helpful.
138091	If i had one hour to live i would spend it in this class because it would like an eternity
142654	Good teacher, very nice, and very helpful. The entire class was comprised of very nice people and I did not mind going to class when I would feel otherwise. A very enjoyable experience.
143630	Great course taught by a fantastic professor, would highly recommend anyone that has inconsistencies in their writing to take this course.

111675	I think the teacher was one of the nicest teachers I've had during my education. She is very knowledgeable about writing and was willing to help students as much as possible. I would take her class again.
111697	she is a good teacher
111699	WRD 202 is a beneficial class, and the instructor is thorough.
111758	Prof. Bryant-Richards showed active interest in both the class and her students. She is a very good professor and I would definitely recommend her to my friends.
111793	Great teacher. One of the top teachers at DePaul.
111813	Very nice teacher. Very helpful and gives great comments on the work handed back. Very accessible.
111816	She was a great teacher and very nice, and the course material wasn't very exciting but it was practical.
111955	This was one of the most helpful classes and among the best professors I have had yet at DePaul University. She is extremely caring about her students and wants everything to be relevant to real world situations.
